Position Opening
Gavel to Gavel Alaska Producer for the 2018 Legislative Session

KTOO seeks a qualified individual to join our Gavel to Gavel Alaska production team as Producer during the upcoming Legislative session starting in January 2018. The Gavel Alaska producer decides daily priorities for coverage of the Alaska Legislature's proceedings and other state government events for a statewide television and web audience. The individual we choose will manage the team that produces daily live television coverage of the Alaska Legislature. This is a temporary, seasonal position. Applicants should be available for full-time work from early January 2018 until at least May 1, 2018, and should be available to work nights and weekends as needed.

The Gavel Alaska producer creates the format, content, style and execution of televised legislative coverage; creates daily coverage, crew and broadcast schedules during the legislative session; serves as project liaison with legislators, legislative staff and staff from the Office of the Governor; coordinates the work assignments of control room staff and camera crew members; writes, edits and organizes on-air legislative news headlines, announcements, promos and news releases; manages social media accounts and produces coverage of occasional special legislative events, including special addresses to joint sessions of the legislature. Requires broadcast or journalism experience and a good working knowledge of the Alaska Legislature and state government.

Salary range: $3,487 - $4,900 per month, depending on experience.

Deadline: Open until 11/1/2017. Interested applicants are encouraged to apply as soon as possible.
